Year 6 News

Surviving South America! (And a couple of tests too...)

This half term in Year 6, we have been studying the wonders of South and Central America, from the hidden treasures of the Amazon Rainforest, to the brutal sacrificial rituals of the Ancient Mayans. The children have been fortunate enough to correspond with a real life survivor of the Amazon Jungle, Alex Winters, and read about his exciting adventures living with the Yanomani Tribe, which has prompted fantastic writing, including their very own, very creative, survival guides. If you need advice on surviving a dragon attack, the premier league, those pesky teachers, the first day at school, or even how to tackle SATs tests (which draw ever closer...) look no further than the wealth of knowledge that is Year 6!
